Raymond Union Jacks Defeat "Tuft's" Terriers

The Jacks maintained their unbroken winning streak for the present season of Basketball when they defeated Tuft's Terriers of Medicine Hat in the first home game of the Senior League, with a score of 66-45. The score hardly tells the story of the game, as the visitors were short-handed and were very tired before the end of the game, while the Jacks with the reserve of men were not so weary as none of them stayed on for the full time of the game.

The Terriers have a nice team and are a good bunch of sports. We hope they improve with the season, and if they do, they will furnish real opposition for the other teams before spring. Carrying only sixteen, and having their captain Bob Tufts ruled off for fouls, left them with only a playing number left, and besides being tired they had to play carefully and not foul in order to finish the game. As it was Stan Long fouled off a few minutes before the conclusion of the game, but the Jacks in a fine spirit of sportsmanship permitted him to remain on and finish the game.

The Jacks had a good night and Butler Nadder was on with a vengeance, accounting for 32 points out of the 66 made by the Jacks. He scored from all angles and against all guards, and any time he was close to the hoop on Thursday night you could almost count a basket. Next to him was Paul Fairbanks who scored 13 points in his playing time.

The lineups and score of the players were:

Terriers: Tufts 2; Keel 12; Sid Long 11; Stan Long 10; Moyer 8; Johnson 2. Total 45.

Jacks: Nadder 32; Fairbanks 13; Stone 2; Nilsson 7; Rolfsen 6; King 1; Liague 4; Hoggie 1. Total 66.

In the preliminary the Jacks handed the Intermediates a 58-40 drubbing, the Lethbridge boys showing better condition by far. It was the first time this winter that the Intermediates had played together as a team, and of course they had no combination or team work. They also showed lack of coordination, but played with all they had to the last whistle.

The lineups were: Jacks: Murdoch, Sloan, Shaw, Wood, Campbell, C. Campbell & Anderson.

Intermediates: Gelbreith, Rickham, Pfeiffer, Wood, Robison, Scoville, Woolley, Gray and Hicken.

Booth Chad and Barker Selman handled the first game and Booth Chad and Wilson Rolfsen the second game.

During the intermission a boxing bout was staged by Bert Hall and Ralph Richardson; Duke O'Salro and Veri Meldrum.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

A meeting of the Raymond Board of Trade will be held in the Town Hall Monday evening at 8:15 p.m. to which everyone is invited. The re-organization of the Board of Trade will take place, according to by-law, and there are a number of important matters to be discussed. Plan to be there and take part.

NEWS NOTES

Don't forget the Annual Rate payers meeting tonight.

Help your home town and it will help you. The good town is good because it has good business men and good citizens.

The Jacks won their game with Cardston last Friday night to the tune of 47-36.

Bill Rouse is home from the Hospital and is improving steadily. It will be some time yet before he is able to get out.

We try to render service in publishing the news of the district. Will you help us make this service better.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Snow and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reithman were Magrath 1st Ward visitors last Sunday evening where Elder Snow was the speaker.

Maurice Cooper of Pietero Butte was a Raymond visitor last Sunday evening. His wife is in St. Michael's Hospital having undergone an operation the first of the week. Her many friends hope for her speedy recovery.

The Dominion Parliament opened Thursday, and legislators expect a long and important session with a number of vital issues to be dealt with. His excellency Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General gave the speech from the throne.

Letterheads, envelopes, statements, etc., are daily needed in your business establishment. Check up your supplies and if in need of any printing, Phone 24, we are always on the job to oblige and satisfy. The Recorder.

Ernest Reithman is busy now decorating the chapel part of the 2nd Ward Church. A paneling effect on the ceiling is most attractive, and we understand the north wall is to carry a large painting.

In the period between halves of the senior game, the drawing for the radio given by the R.A.A.A. took place, the lucky ticket being 264, and the owner being Bill Rodelack.

WEATHER CHANGES

The past week has witnessed a couple of changes in the weather program. Monday was cold with a fall of snow, the thermometer going to 5 below. From then until Thursday evening the Alberta weather almost had California cheated. Then Thursday evening a breeze blew out of the north bringing a fog with it. The wind continued until after midnight when snow commenced falling, and the snow still continues, being fine and powdery. At daylight Friday morning the thermometer read 2 degrees above zero.

Ratarians Enjoy Successful Evening

Rotary Charter night in Raymond last Monday proved to be a big night and was decidedly successful from every angle. Because of the large number, the proceedings were held in the Opera House, when 125 sat down to the splendid supper prepared and served by the Ladies Aid of the United Church. There were Rotarians present from Vernon, B. C., High River and the Cardston and Lethbridge Clubs had both cancelled their meetings for the day and attended practically 100 p.c. and then there were the Raymond Rotarians and their ladies. District Governor Oliver McIntyre of Edmonton represented Rotary International and the Edmonton Club as well.

Past President L. L. Pack called the meeting to order and made a speech of welcome and was in charge for the opening ceremonies and the luncheon, following which he turned the meeting over to Heber F. Allen, Chairman of the Program meeting who took charge.

Past District Governor Norris Stoltz of Lethbridge introduced the visitors and those at the head table, M. D. Cahoon introduced the Cardston members and President Chris Hansen introduced the members of the Lethbridge Club, and Heber F. Allen introduced the Raymond Rotarians and their wives. Then a few minutes were spent in Community singing, with Vera Low leading and Bill Laidlaw, both of the Cardston Club at the piano.

District Governor McIntyre was then called upon to present the charter to the Club, and in his speech he recounted the spread and growth of Rotary, its introduction into foreign lands, the influence for peace and understanding it effected on Rotarians of neighboring nations and the fact that such a spirit as Rotary engendered was the thing that would bring peace to the entire world. Mentioning Rotary in Alberta, he stated this was the first Charter night he had ever attended, and it was an unique occasion in that it was the only official Outpost in Rotary and was now being made into a full-fledged Club so that the event would not likely be duplicated. He brought greetings from the Edmonton Club, also from Past District Governor W. W. Emerson, who was Governor when the Outpost was organized and who was very anxious to attend Charter night, but was unable to do so because of illness. He referred to the world wide work of Jim Davidson of Calgary, also Doug. Howland in introducing in foreign and semi-civilized nations and stated that Canada had provided one International President for Rotary and hoped soon to provide another. Referring to the growth of the organization, he stated that more than 200 new Clubs had been organized since July, and he hoped before the end of the Rotary year, at June 30th, that there will have been 400 added. Raymond now makes 29 Clubs in District 116, and 4,545 in Rotary. During the speech the District Governor presented the Club with a black mahogany gavel as a personal gift.

President A. H. Zabriskie on behalf of the local Club replied to the presentation speech and expressed the pleasure of the local group at achieving the organization of a full-fledged Club, stating that every member was ready to do his part to hold the banner of Rotary high in Raymond. Rotarian Frank C. Taylor and his quartette then sang two numbers "Out of the Dusk" and "Memory Lane."

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stevens of Barrow were Sunday visitors in Raymond.

District Manager T. Geo. Wood made a hurried last week trip to Regina Tuesday last and returned home Thursday evening.

Mrs. D. A. Bennett returned from the Hospital early this week and is doing fine following her operation.

Those who fled to other climes for a mild winter should probably have remained in Sunny Southern Alberta where we really do have nice weather.

Elder Wm Redd and Pres. T. Wood were speakers at the 1st Ward Sunday evening last. A vocal solo by B. J. Coombs and a cornet solo by Robert McMullen were the special musical numbers.

CONFERENCE NEXT WEEK

Quarterly Conference of the Taylor Stake of Zion will be held next Saturday and Sunday Feb. 5th and 6th in Magrath. The first meeting will be at 7:30 a.m. Saturday evening and will be a Priesthood meeting for both Aaronic and Melchizedik Priesthood quorums.

There will be meetings Sunday at 12 a.m., 2 and 7:30 p.m., the two o'clock meeting being held in the First Ward meeting house which will be dedicated at that meeting.

While it is not known definitely who will represent the General authorities in the Conference it is understood that Pres. Geo. F. Richards and Apostle Joseph E. Merrill will both be in the Canadian Stakes this week-end at the Alberta and Lethbridge Stake Conferences and it is expected that one or possibly both of these brethren will be in attendance at our Conference.

Mrs. Frazer has been seriously ill for the past few days.

Owing to lack of space it was impossible to publish the serial story this week but a full section will appear next week.

Paul Zemp has chosen as his councillors in the 2nd Ward Mutual, Howard Rasmussen and Howard Melchior.

FERN KING PASSES AT OAKLAND

Raymond people were shocked Thursday morning after word reached relatives of the death in Oakland, California, of Mrs. Owen King, Jr., who passed away in the hospital there from an attack of pneumonia, which developed rapidly, she taking ill on Sunday last. The body is being brought to Raymond for burial, but funeral arrangements are not announced as yet.

With Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Card, she and Owen, Jr., were holidaying on the Pacific Coast when Mrs. King took sick. She has not been strong for a number of years, but the suddenness with which the attack came was a shock to everyone and cast a shadow over the entire community as both the Dahl and the King families are pioneer families of the district and held in the highest esteem by everyone.

The sympathy of the community goes out to all of the relatives in their hour of sadness.

Sport Gossip

The High School team meet the Cardston High on the local floor tonight in a regular High School league game. We hope the outcome is more favorable for the locals than when they met Magrath last Friday night. Something is needed to get better results out of the boys, they don't seem to have the spirit to win. We were told on the QT that the boys were not taking care of themselves and doing too much night hawking. If that is so then some changes will have to be made if Raymond has a winning team.

The boxers at the Opera House Thursday night showed lots of form and fight. It was interesting to watch their feints and leads, and some really solid blows were rained in on every one of the boys during the rounds. Keep it up fellows. It is good training and boxing need not be butchery at all.

The gum sure suffered Thursday night. If you told some of the chivers how fast their jaws worked they would tell you it was impossible. However we watched a few and when the action on the floor was fast believe me the jaw action was just as rapid, accelerating with every rapid move of the performers.

The electric clock was a little sticky Thursday night. Someone suggested that Mose be given a seat right up beside it so he could keep it running. It would be a wonderful place to see the game too.

According to schedule our next senior league game here will be February 18th with the Lethbridge Aces. In the meantime the Jacks meet Medicine Hat on the Medicine Hat floor. If the exhibition card is played through with Magrath we will also have a game at Magrath on Feb. 4th.

...This slogan of Rotary, could
be introduced into the life of every individual, and the wonderful change that it would make in the relations of men and women with one another can only be imagined, because except in very few cases it has never been tried, so one could hardly say honestly that it would not work.

The membership in service clubs find their greatest joy and satisfaction in the Club service they render from year to year. It was an inspiration Monday night to see the group of Rotarians at Raymond's Charter night, men who have spent all the way from 2 to 20 years in Rotary, serving in projects and committees of various kinds, getting joy out of their work, and really living, and still anxious to further serve their fellow men. Many people accuse these Clubs of being only places where the membership meet to eat and have a good time. They do both these things, but along with them, as every Raymond Rotarian can tell, there is work in the Club if a person keeps up his end, as all live Rotarians want to do.

Follow the year's program of any Rotary, Lion's, Kiwanis, Gyro or any other of the many service clubs we have and see the numerous projects carried on for the widows, the fatherless, the neglected children and the blind. Services that most of us never think of, and that would not be rendered if it were not for these gallant fellows in the service Clubs who give of their time and means to further act the same position as it encourage and carry out their projects. Look over their year's programs and see how many outstanding speakers they listen to each year on world problems.
Men who are in the thick of the fight, trying to find a way out of the difficulties that beset the nations of the world at the present time. Pick up the magazine of any of these service Clubs and read the stimulating and thought provoking articles produced in them and then see if consistent membership in a service Club is just a good time.

Consider too the fact that these clubs are becoming worldwide in membership and activity. For instance Rotary now comprises 4545 clubs, this remarkable growth taking place in 32 years, and the total membership is about 185,000. Other clubs have similar records.
What is the reason? A good time and nothing else? A good time is true, but along with it a program that commands regular attendance, and projects that require not only money but physical service to put over.

We merely mention these facts because we believe that what has been and is being done in service clubs may be done in churches and communities, and when the day comes that we are really converted to the words "he profits most who serves best," and we really believe that we are our brother's keeper, then we will commence to have our heaven on earth, and the day will dawn that was envisioned when the mighty creator said "Man is that he might have joy."

We wonder if it is worth trying?

Edmonton Letter

(By T. B. Windress)

Edmonton, Alberta—The convention of the U.F.A. in Edmonton last week—it was the 30th annual assembly of the farmers' politic-economic organization—made decisions which can be expected to prove of high importance to the political future of all Alberta and make the U.F.A. a strong strategic force again, either actively or passively.

The convention decided by vote to retain the U.F.A. affiliation with the C.C.F. in federal affairs but turned down proposals to affiliate with the C.C.F. in provincial affairs. Thus the U.F.A. voted to remain in exactly the same position as it has had for the past five years but there are new implications now.

A proposal that the organization join a unity movement to co-operate with other political groups within the province was voted down as the delegates chose to retain the U.F.A.'s separate identity and independence of action. Although the idea was not expressed, however, the decision left the way open for U.F.A. members, as individuals, in various constituencies, to give and receive co-operation with members of other parties in unified action, political action if it is desired. That is, in constituencies where the U.F.A. is strong, the organization might nominate a candidate and other parties might support this candidate rather than nominate their own. In constituencies where another party was strong er, the U.F.A. might decide not to nominate a candidate, and individual members of the organization would then be free to vote for whatever candidate was nominated by another group.

Among the two-score resolutions adopted by the convention were those asking federal subsidy of all farm crops, establishment of a wheat board with producer representation, continuance of drought area rehabilitation, investigation of livestock marketing, discontinuance of the provincial government's program of enlarged school units until those already established have been proved beneficial and until ratepayers in other projected districts have been consulted and ensure of the provincial government's use of patronage in the civil service.

Court decisions on various matters which are pending are being awaited by the Aberhart government this week, for some of the legislation to be introduced during the legislature session which opens February 10, will hinge to some extent at least, on those verdicts.

Among the cases awaiting judgment are the review of the Provincial Guaranteed Securities Interest act and the Provincial Guaranteed Securities Proceedings act of 1937, a companion measure. They purported to cut in half the interest to be paid on bonds guaranteed by the province. The Alberta appeal court has been reviewing them this week.

Judgments in the appeals of Joseph Unwin, M. A. for Edson, and George Powell, English "social credit expert," from their convictions and sentences on charges of criminal libel arising out of the "Bankers' Roadies" pamphlets of last October allegedly libelling nine Edmonton men, also are being awaited. Unwin and Powell were convicted in November and sentenced to three months and six months in jail, respectively.
Hearing of the appeals was completed last Friday.

But the government's chief expectancy just now is of the decisions of the supreme court of Canada on the press bill, the bank licensing bill and the bank taxation bill which were passed by the legislature last October and on which the Lieutenant-governor reserved royal assent.

Independence of the press—Alberta, with its use as an un-responsible organ of government propaganda as the possible alternative, is the issue in the press bill. Although the banks have been altogether silent about the result to Alberta should the bank licensing and taxation bills be upheld, it is not impossible that implementation of those bills might lead to Alberta citizens finding themselves deposits and left without the bank facilities they now have.
Practically every rural bank branch in the province lost money on its operations last year and the banks are in a position to afford new taxation which runs as high as $5,000 annually per branch, or to permit government-appointed amateur boards to dictate how business should be done, as would be the case under the licensing act.

Although it was believed at first that the decisions of the supreme court of Canada might be handed down last Saturday, developments indicated that the court desired considerably more time.

Arguments in the cases were completed in Ottawa last week.
O. M. Biggar, K.C., chief counsel for the Alberta government, told the court solemnly as he wound up his argument in defence of the press bill that "the government of Alberta would never so much as even think of suggesting that any newspaper would publish anything that was deliberately false.

He denied the argument of Hon. J. L. Ralston, K. C., chief counsel for Alberta daily and weekly newspapers, that the press bill was an infringement of the federal field of legislation because it was in fact criminal libel and that such things as
"b" is inoperative, then you'd have no credit institutions. I am assuming, against you that there is a complete contradiction in terms.

Mr. Justice Cannon:—"and that there is no means whereby the credit can be made available to the people individually and collectively, as defined in this published statement that is recited. Show us how, if you exclude banking, this statute can operate."

Mr. Biggar: "I can perhaps give a possible set of facts under which the statute might be made to operate, but I do not made all the submissions I feel I can make in regard to this statute."

Arguing on the bank taxation bill, Mr. Biggar contended it was not indirect taxation, which is within the domain of sole jurisdiction, and that the court, in the absence of facts and without a very searching and deep inquiry into the facts of banking, could not find that it was indirect taxation and therefore outside the jurisdiction of the provincial legislature.

Mr. Biggar said that the banks could not at present lead all the money they had available and therefore interest rates had been brought down to attract borrowers. Therefore the banks could not charge any more.
Therefore they could not pass the tax on to their customers.
Therefore they would have to pay it themselves. And therefore it would of necessity be a direct tax.

Alternatively, he said, if business in Canada was very good, the country was prosperous and the banks had lent out all they could, they could not raise interest rates because of a legal limit of seven per cent, and
the tax on to their customers. In either case, he said, the bank tax would be a direct tax, and therefore within the power of the province. But, he said, a tax that was direct today might become indirect tomorrow, by a change in business. There was no definable point that had any permanent validity to determine the dividing line between a direct and an indirect tax. It was irrelevant, he said that other provinces might tax the banks to the same extent.

"Even if as citizens we regard this Alberta tax as excessive, as to other provinces taxing to the same extent," Mr. Biggar said, "we still have the protection of the power of disallowance."

On behalf of the dominion government, Aime Geoffrion, K.
C., opened his rebuttal argument.

"I mentioned the Encyclopedia Britannica the other day as being the only place outside of C. H. Douglas' writings wherein a statement could be found that banks create credit," he said. "I now read to your lordships the quotation from Britannica, to show you that the Britannica was printing only a discussion of the theory of Social Credit. In one place here it says that it is held by certain people that banks create credit. A little lower

"b" when read together are unintelligible, then you have nothing."

Mr. Biggar: "Then I'd say that there are no institutions on which the bill can operate."

Chief Justice: "No! If the bill in all of these classes of dealing in credit named in 'a' and
am assuming, against you that
tion in terms."

authorities as saying that banks cannot create unlimited credit.
In other words it prints merely a discussion of both sides; in one place the discourser says that banks can create credit without limit and in the next place the next discourser says is to it in the Britannica.

W. N. Tilley, K. C., making a rejoinder for the chartered bank referred to Mr. Biggar's mention of bank dividends and declared: "His reference to dividends and to the bank tax in relation thereto show that the legislature is going outside the province of Alberta to levy taxes. This tax is on the capital, the reserve and the undivided profits, from the whole of Canada over the whole life of the banks. These funds serve to multiply capital paid up, in some cases as much as three times, in the case of the Bank of Montreal, for instance.
The same rule applies, generally speaking to the other banks. So a dividend of eight per cent on paid up capital means only about four per cent or less on the total of funds which this act proposes to tax."

"The general tendency of the tax—not its incidence—must be the deciding factor as between direct and indirect taxation," Mr. Tilley concluded.

The past week was a week of lovely weather. The warmest was Wednesday when the thermometer read 47 above, the coldest Monday when it was 5 below. Snowfall for the week was 2 1/2 inches. On January 27th last year the thermometer was between 11 and 13 below all day long.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL

The net was designed to coerce the banks into either doing as the Alberta government illegally desired or else leave the province he said. He ridiculed the idea that if a bank paid $2,000,000 in taxes it would cost the bank nothing. Suppose that instead of paying by cheque, a bank paid in cash, said Mr. Tilley. He maintained that there was, in fact, no intention by those responsible for the bill that the banks should pay in cash. Or if the e was, did it not suggest that the amount of tax and the large sum necessary to furnish the reserve for extra provincial payments under the proposed Social Credit scheme had close relationship to each other?

"The legislation before the court is part of a scheme to start in Alberta a new system of banking and currency, to control by expansion or contraction of credit the economic affairs of Alberta and affect those outside," said Mr. Tilley. "The preamble of the Bank of Canada act and the recital to the statute we are dealing with are alike. The dominion has a system which is within its own legislative competence for Canada. The means adopted by the dominion are not satisfactory to Alberta and they propose to take charge of the matter themselves. And it is ultra vires of the province."

Mr. Tilley read to the court the preamble of the Bank of Canada act, showing that it is the function of the Bank of Canada to control currency and credit in Canada. The preamble and the pertinent sections of the Bank of Canada act were read as follows:

"Whereas it is desirable to establish a central bank in Canada to regulate credit and currency in the best interests of the economic life of the nation, to control and protect the external value of the national monetary unit and to mitigate by its influence fluctuations in the general level of production, trade, prices and employment as far as may be possible within the scope of monetary action, and generally to promote the economic and financial welfare of the dominion, therefore His Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the senate and the house of commons of Canada enacts, etc."

24,000 HEAD OF STOCK
ON FEED

10 FREE CHICKS

4,000 head of beef, and 20,000 head of sheep are on feed in the Raymond district this winter. This includes the immediate district tributary to the Raymond Sugar Factory, and which obtains its pulp and molasses from the local factory.

In conversation with J. W. Evans of the field staff of the local factory, who has to do with the sale of pulp and molasses, and who is in close touch with these matters, we were informed that it costs about 5c. per day to feed the cattle and about 3c. per day each for the lambs, totaling for this number with the labor required, which is included in the above, $1200 per day for feed and labor in the district.

The expenditure will continue until along into April before the last of the cattle will be sold, although the cows and heifers will likely be sold during February and March, the lambs about cleared out by the first of April, and the steers sold during April and May. Do a little arithmetic now, and let's assume that the average feeding period of the year is 120 days, at $1,200 per day, gives us a total for stock feed and labor of $144,000. Quite a sum isn't it, and this is in addition to the prices received for beef, grain and other produce sold before the feeding season sets in.

Of course, this $1,200 is not profit. However it stimulates business and in a naturally slow season keeps things moving and puts a little money in circulation for the payment of groceries, clothing, fuel for the laborers and money for the feed for the livestock. Then too the industry of stock-feeding seems on the increase every year seeing two or three new ones trying their luck at feeding a few beef or lambs.

Like everything else this business has its lean seasons, but it appears from past results that the good feeder always makes a profit for his labor. The good feeder however is the man who has shelter, feed, water, and the foresight to see that the stock are regularly and properly fed, and kept on the increase every day they are on feed.

We imagine that the labor and capital that feeding provides would look very inviting to many districts, where from wheat harvest in the fall to the next cropping season there is little to do but talk of the weather, watch the price of wheat and cuss the government. Truly the benefits of the beef industry are far-reaching and beneficial.

The mild weather is going to be hard on trees, especially if we have a cold spell following it. The sap is in the trees now, and a flock of Jucks is reported as having wintered on Kelo Lake. Maybe our winter weather is past already.

Bishop J. O. Hicken, his Canon J. G. Snow and Parley Litchfield, Chairman of the 1st Ward Genealogical Committee were speakers at the 2nd Ward last Sunday evening. Arthur Dahl, Genealogical Chairman of the ward had the meeting in charge after the opening exercises.

One course and one course only is open to the farmers of Canada if they wish to get a fair deal in respect to their industry and this course is organization—organization, locally, provincially and throughout the dominion, Low Hutchinson, who has just succeeded that grand old man, Dr. Henry Wise Wood, C. M. G., as president of the Alberta Wheat Pool, makes this statement. It is not a hackneyed, stereotyped, weatherworn statement, as uttered by Mr. Hutchinson. It is a statement, founded on the thirty years of H. W. Wood's association with the co-operative movement in Western Canada and on Mr. Hutchinson's fifteen years' prominent association with the same movement.

Mr. Hutchinson is practical. He is a worker, a keen student, a shrewd observer and he weighs his statements. When he speaks, those who hear him feel instinctively that he has the soundness of reasons for what he says.

Mr. Hutchinson, in common with thousands of farmers, from Prince Edward Island, to Vancouver Island, sees that the present economic system, as operated in Canada, discriminates against agriculture and therefore his first official utterance is a solemn warning to farmers that they must unite nationally and so strengthen their force that they can function nationally.—Country Life in B.
